

SITE DISCLAIMER

We apologize for the fact that these web sites and included documents do not always render properly in browsers other than Internet Explorer, such as Firefox or Google Chrome. These documents and the sites are created using Microsoft Publisher, which is optimized for Internet Explorer. We manually adjust them to look as close to the Internet Explorer view as possible without distorting the Explorer view.

Microsoft Publisher is used, because it is allowed on the computers used by the District and it is a very good program for creating print documents. It saves a considerable amount of time and money for the District, since it has the capability to convert print documents into WEB pages. If we didn't use this conversion capability, we would have to duplicate all the work that went into creating the print document in some other WEB development program.